Pro Bono Publico!

IF YOU LOVE YOUR COUNTRY, encourage Home Productions. Why will you send abroad for wretchedly spurious articles, when you can have the good and true and beautiful of Oregon material and Oregon workmanship close at your very doors!

Why impoverish your country and its mechanics by the calculations of Prejudice, or by parsimonious misdirection?

HORATIO COOKE & CO.,
Corner of Alder and Second sts., Portland,

ARM CHAIRS, CRADLES,
CRIBS, SAFES,
SASH AND DOORS.

Other articles, too numerous to mention, either on hand or made to order.

The superscribers would modestly infer to the most gracious public of the State of Oregon that they would gladly exchange any or all of the above articles for "READY MONEY," or any other article of commerce that will by the conveyance give pleasurable sensations to the high contracting parties.

The life-spring of trade, "READY CASH,"
No matter in which way we view it,
Enables us onward to dash,
And therefore we mean to stick to it.

Billiard and Ten Pin Balls turned to the most exact spherical conformation.

Various kinds of turning executed with the beauty of true taste, and to the truth of true order.

TRAVELLING AGENT

Mr Urias E Hicks is the duly authorized agent of the Daily and Weekly Oregonian, with full powers to receive and receipt for subscriptions advertisements &c and to finally settle all outstanding dues to this office in Washington Territory, Victoria and British Columbia.

The Black Regiments.

In no respect, since the war commenced, has public opinion changed so completely as in regard to the employment of colored soldiers. When the idea was first suggested, it was very generally condemned, and for various reasons The negroes would not fight—they could not be disciplined—their presence would disgust and demoralize white troops—all these and many other things were said in opposition to the project, and it seemed likely for a time to prove abortive But Butler gathered regiments in New Orleans, others were mustered into service in South Carolina—they were readily disciplined, and when put under fire, instead of running away, it was found that their fury and determination were so great, that it required the utmost prudence on the part of the officers to check and control them Their reckless daring excited the admiration even of those who had sneered at and despised them, and they fairly conquered the prejudices of those who had most earnestly opposed their enlistment, and now, if we can judge from the united expression of correspondence from the army and the reports of General Officers, they are held in high estimation, and depended upon as efficient auxiliaries.

The tone of the public press in the East—especially the conservative portion of it which but early resented the idea of allowing blacks men to fight in a war with white men—has totally changed. In the West, particularly where it was said that volunteers would never consent to remain in an army composed in part of 'niggers,' the change of sentiment is most apparent The papers are full of letters boasting of their bold and gallant conduct at Port Hudson, and wherever they have been tried, and the experiment, declaimed against so seriously last year, is now admitted to be a triumphant success A Western Colonel, in a private letter from Gen Rosencrans' army to a friend in New York, says "I want to say a word about darkey soldiers. You probably know more about their fighting than I do, but I am satisfied they will fight like tigers when properly managed; but a more useful attachment to a post than a regiment of them was never made. We have a regiment here—1st Mississippi—and without them it would have been impossible for us to do all the guarding and fatigue They relieve us of the fatigue duty entirely, and have built some fine breastworks beside When our soldiers see them hard at work in the hot sun, doing what they would otherwise have to do, the "opposition" and "prejudice" to the plan of organizing and enlisting them soon disappear. It is a wise movement of the Government"

Revenue Cutters for the Pacific Coast

The Treasury Department is now having built six fast steam cutters for the revenue service, of which two are designed for the Pacific coast. One will be stationed at some point on the southern coast of California, another at San Francisco and, as there are two now on the coast—the Shubrick and the Joe Lane—there will be one each for Oregon and Washington Territory By the way, Lieut Merriman, formerly of the Shubrick, was ordered to the command of the revenue cutter Caleb Cushing, at Portland, and arrived there on the very day that that vessel was cut out by the pirates He will probably be sent out to the Pacific coast in one of the new cutters, which are to be finished in about two months from this time Lieut. White, formerly on the Pacific coast service, has been ordered to the command of the steam cutter Hercules, at Baltimore

We take the above from the Washington correspondence of the Sacramento Union, and have merely to add that the writer, usually well informed, is slightly mistaken in supposing that the Joseph Lane is a steam cutter, and, in fact, she is not much of any kind of a cutter, as according to the last news from her she was about to be dismantled—for what purpose we cannot say, or for what cause, unless it be that her name made her "go out and stand" so much in bad weather that she has become weak in the knees, and cannot stand it any longer We protest, however, against being compelled to put up with that sort of craft any longer, and trust that the Treasury Department will allow to Oregon a steam vessel of sufficient strength and proper capacity to protect shipping near the mouth of the Columbia river, at all seasons and in all weathers.

New Company Full —We understand from Governor Gibbs that the company recently recruited by Capt John F. Noble, being now full, will be mustered into the service of the United States, to-morrow, at Vancouver, as Co "G" of the First Regiment of Oregon Cavalry. The officers commissioned by Gov Gibbs, are, besides Capt Noble, H C Small as 1st Lieutenant, and Wm H Hand, 2d Lieutenant The company will for the present be stationed at Vancouver.

Missouri to be a Free State —The State Convention recently in session passed an ordinance of emancipation, which provides for the cessation of slavery in Missouri on the Fourth of July, 1870, and directs that the slaves thus emancipated shall remain under the control of their masters—those under 40, for life, those under 12 years of age, until they arrive at the age of 23 and those of all other ages until the Fourth of July 1870 Such are the main provisions of the ordinance. It is the law of the land. The convention did not deem it necessary to submit it to a vote of the people It announces the birth of liberty throughout the State and the day of freedom rises upon us A slave State from her birth into the Union to this day, Missouri is a slave State no longer A mild form of servitude will continue in her borders for seven years longer, but it will exist only by sufferance, as a school to prepare the disenthralled African for the complete freedom which awaits him From this time Missouri is a new and proud commonwealth Her limbs will become lithe under their disengagements from fetters that so long bound them, and she will outstrip her sisters in the race to greatness Her name will become the synonym of a new dispensation, and other States will make the action of her convention their guide to the jail which she had attained

Appointments for Oregon —The Sacramento Union states that Dr J W. Drew has been appointed Commissioner of Enrolment, and Dr Wilson Bowlby, Examining Surgeon, under the provisions of the Conscription Law The first is a member of the State Senate from Coose and Curry counties—the latter represents Washington and adjacent counties in the same body, and was its presiding officer at the last session If the office is worth having, we are glad that it has been given to Dr B, for there is no man in Oregon more worthy of consideration for his fidelity to principle and earnestness of effort in behalf of what he believes to be right

The Fighting Methodists.—The 24th Iowa regiment, called the Methodist regiment, was in the terrible conflict at Vicksburg on the 22d of June. The colonel and several of the captains are Methodist preachers and a majority of the soldiers are members of the Methodist Church They did some of the best fighting of the day They went into the battle full of enthusiasm, and not one of them flinched during the engagement Their Major was wounded late in the day He walked from the field, and on his way to the hospital captured a stalwart Confederate, and compelled him to carry him to the Provost Marshal's headquarters A correspondent of an Iowa paper says "it was a laughable sight to see Major Wright riding his captive into the camp" The casualty lists of the Methodists is very large and shows that they stood up to their work like true soldiers. On returning from the battle field in the evening, they held a religious meeting, at which the exercises were very impressive.

Shooting at Boise —James Conner was shot at Placerville July 22d, while asleep, by a man named McNabb, on account of an old grudge.

Mat Bledsoe was killed in Placerville last week by Dr I H Harris Bledsoe shot at Harris, whereupon Harris stabbed him to the heart with a knife

Timothy Hawkins was shot and killed at Bannock City on the 12th, by A G Allen

Patrick McQuigan was killed at Placerville on the 11th by Jesse Petrie They were both packers

Belles in the Kitchen —From a gentleman of Alabama, who came North from Richmond a few days ago under a flag of truce to Fortress Monroe, we learn that, between the Emancipation Proclamation and the necessity of the rebel chiefs are under of employing negroes on the fortifications, it is almost impossible to keep any house servants in Dixie, and the first ladies in Virginia are obliged to go to work in their own kitchens! In Richmond, there are a few rebel women who still manage to dress well, but a majority of them look shabby enough, and have no luxuries whatever

Union Candidate for Governor of Iowa —This gentleman, Col Wm M Stone, is a lawyer by profession, and was Judge of the Sixth District Court when the war began He enlisted as a private, was elected Major, captured at Shiloh, held a year in rebel prisons, finally exchanged, appointed Colonel of the 22d Iowa, and has since been twice wounded, the last time before Vicksburg

Deep Shaving —Our Umatilla friends say they are suffering for want of a barber as there is only one in the place, and according to the rule which governs human nature, white or black, he charges atrocious and swindling prices He won't use the shears for less than a dollar, and it takes 50 cents "to see" a razor Whoever wants a good chance to make money in that line, will be welcomed if he will work at fair prices

Spokane County — The vote of this county of which Colville is county seat, is thus, according to the Washington Statesman J O Raynor, 12, Geo E Cole 56, L J S Turney, 22, L C Richardson, 1 A G Bradford received 29 votes out of 21 cast for Joint Councilman Dr Tobey was elected Representative

Receiver of Commutations —L W Coe Collector of Internal Revenue for the State of Oregon, has been appointed by the Secretary of War Receiver of Commutation money under the Conscription Act from persons who prefer serving their country with their purse instead of a musket

Only Thirty —It is said that unless party conventions are held in Idaho there will be full thirty candidates for the Delegateship at the approaching election in that Territory.

The Light in the East.

At length we have the full reports of the great battle of Gettysburg, the surrender of Vicksburg and the consequent rejoicings of our patriotic brethren in the East The tidings of General Meade's victory flashed over the loyal States like the glad sunshine that succeeds a terrific storm, brightening every eye swelling, every heart with grateful emotion, in revealing a prospect of coming peace The completeness of the triumph was not fully understood until the 6th of July, when Lee's shattered columns were known to be hurrying to the Potomac with the sole idea of escape from the conqueror's sword On the succeeding day the Northwest heard the glorious news of the surrender of Vicksburg, and then from Maine to Kansas the nation rejoiced in the assurance that the rebel power was baffled, broken and decisively overthrown The prevalent feeling was reflected in the press So far as the journals which have come to us show not a discordant line was heard The tributes paid to General Meade and his army of heroes were earnest strongly expressed but not extravagant for the victory gained was of transcendant importance to the republic to liberty and to humanity, and it was won by some of the most heroic fighting the world ever saw Said the Tribune

"It is impossible to praise too highly the splendid capacity which General Meade has exhibited The best evidence of this is in the enthusiastic confidence with which he has inspired his army Never was that army called upon to endure such desperate assaults as in these tremendous engagements The rebel Generals aware that the fortunes of their pirate Confederacy was staked on the issue, hurled their columns upon the National lines with a mad impetuosity which it seemed as if nothing could withstand Hard pressed our brave men often were, but they believed in their General and never wavered So completely had General Meade won their devoted faith, so admirably handled his troops in the first day's fight so promptly sent reinforcements to the points of greatest peril that the officers on Friday all over the field, when the shock came fearlessly cheered and steadied their men with the cry: Remember the General men, you know he'll have the supports here in time" And so the gallant troops held fast their ground, and the supports never once failed No line broke, save once for a moment, and nowhere did the rebels break their immovable array And above all things, as the test and crowning evidence of General Meade's soldiership he put every man he had into the fight In other words, he knew what to do with his troops—proved himself able to handle in battle a hundred thousand men Not a brigade in the army, says our correspondent, that has not fought and fought two or three times over in these battles Troops were moved with a facility and precision that were miraculous, and a victorious result that only was not miraculous because it was the logical outcome of so much genius and courage * * * The Army of the Potomac the child and champion of the Loyal North, has at last found the road to victory. It has opened that road with its cannon Let none doubt that it will advance firmly and swiftly thereon to the final overthrow of rebellion and treason"—Sac Union

Latest Speculations about the British Pirates —A New York letter to the Bulletin dated June 30, says

Our Chamber of Commerce is about memorializing the government to provide convoys for all vessels bound to foreign ports It is a grave question whether this would not be the very best service to which the whole fleet of pirate seekers could be put Certainly the 15 or 20 vessels which for the past year or two have been vexing the ocean in their fruitless search for the marauders could have effected a vast deal more good as convoys than any they have yet accomplished And they would be fully as likely, too, to overhaul the pirates when engaged in that service as they would when sent on special errands for that purpose. The ocean as Busby would tell us, is an almost illimitable field upon whose bosom any vicious craft who has an interest in keeping out of the way of hostile cruisers can always do so with impunity, and he would scarcely venture to exchange that impunity for the risk of attacking a fleet of merchantmen who were under the sheltering wings of an efficient convoy

We shall hear more next week of the arrangements of our merchants as well as of the Navy Department There is a talk of sending out the Collins steamers Atlantic and Baltic, which are now lying idle in our harbor It is said that Capt Nicholson, of the navy, has volunteered to take command of the last named vessel

Reports of the whereabouts of some of these pirate craft are so numerous and contradictory as to add no little to the perplexity of the naval authorities If one is to believe all of these reports, the Alabama, Florida and Virginia are completely ubiquitous One vessel on a certain day encounters the Alabama off Bahia, or Pernambuco; another, on the same day, comes across her in the gulf while a third, at about the same time, is chased by her at some point hundreds of miles away from either of those places And as with the Alabama so with the other two vessels named. And then there are vessels arriving in port every day who report having been chased by piratical vessels with the Confederate flag flying Reports of this last character may generally be set down as unworthy of the least credit Semmes and his fellow buccaneers never hoist the pirate colors until they have gotten their victims close under their guns, so as to render escape impossible

And very latest story touching the whereabouts of the Alabama placed her at St Croix, where she was said to be closely blockaded by the Vanderbilt A still later story concerning an unknown steamer, supposed by some to be her is to the effect that she was in the offing engaged in a cannonade with one of our cruisers, the result of which was the sinking of one of the combatants Which of the two it was that went to the bottom is a matter which the witness of the affair didn't wait to ascertain

We have another story about the Alabama's affair which may possibly be true It is to the effect that the agent of the Confederate States at St Croix recently purchased a large quantity of coal, which that vessel was to call at the island for. The government however, had informed the agent that the Alabama would not be allowed to take any of the coal, whereupon the agent replied that Capt Semmes would come and take it

Swearing Them —A Murfreesboro correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial tells the following anecdote of a German Captain making some rebel prisoners take the oath of allegiance

I have just returned from a pleasant visit to the camp of General Jeff C Davis' division occupying the front upon the Shelbyville pike Colonel Heg has a regiment of Norwegians or Scandinavians They are mostly from and are known as the Fifteenth Wisconsin They are a splendid body of well disciplined men and all speak our language fluently. I heard an amusing anecdote of one of their captains who a short time since, took a lot of rebel prisoners As the Norwegian captain had them drawn up in line, he said to them in broken English, and in accents very much like the German: "Se, you fellers—you putternuts—I want you to swear a little It don't you good to swear his bar but the Constitution—I schwear him tree year ago—now you schwear him. Now recollect you schwear him sont—and—I nonsense You schwear him and keep him down and no puke him up again"

New Post Route — A post route has been established from Fort Laramie to Hellgate —Time was when the establishment of new post routes was looked upon as the harbinger of benefits to the people along the lines of the routes but the manner in which contractors have performed their duties in carrying the mails in this and Idaho Territories, gives little cause to hope that any great good will result from the establishment of the new route from Laramie With this route in operation, and the one from here to Hellgate, we will have a mail line from Walla Walla clear across the continent —W W Statesman

Almost a Fire —Last evening about five o'clock, an alarm of fire was created in Front street, caused by a quantity of linen having caught fire in a bedroom at Mr Fisher's confectionery store It appears that Mr Fisher's little son was playing with some matches, in the back room, and that he accidentally set fire to the clothing The alarm was promptly given, and the engines hurried to the spot, but fortunately their services were not needed, as the fire had been extinguished before their arrival One of the firemen, however, finding there was no fire to subdue, determined to extinguish something, and forthwith commenced playing the stream upon a couple of astonished citizens who were viewing the proceedings from an adjoining balcony. This determined action effectually routed the spectators aforesaid, and the victorious adjunct of the fire brigade, satisfied that he had zealously performed his duty thereupon gracefully retired

Arrived —The steamer Wilson G Hunt arrived from the Cascades last evening, with upwards of $15,000 in gold dust for Wells Fargo & Co, besides a considerable quantity in the hands of passengers

Fine Plums —Mr S Heidelberger, fruit dealer 81 Front street, yesterday showed us a number of remarkably fine plums, which were as palatable as they were large. Mr H has a large quantity of fine fruit constantly on hand

Changeful —The weather yesterday was exceedingly variable—the morning being dull and cold, and evening clear and warm. The thermometer at 10 o'clock stood at 54°, and at 4 o'clock it indicated 72° in the shade A slight difference

Theatrical —The touching drama of the "Poor of London" will be reproduced this evening at the Willamette Theater We can assure our readers that this is the most effective play that has been produced in this city by the present company The drama itself is one of the greatest of the present age, and is a faithful and life like picture of the miseries and privations of the poor of all great cities, and every character of this living drama is represented with a naturalness and excellence seldom seen upon the boards of a provincial theater We must congratulate Manager Waldron and the company generally upon the great success that attended their first representation of the "Poor of London" and cordially hope that their efforts this evening will be rewarded as they deserve—by a crowded house

Harvest —Albany Democrat says that in all parts of Linn county the farmers are in the midst of the harvest The late warm weather has ripened grain so suddenly that much will be lost from shattering in cutting and binding One farmer has completed harvesting about one hundred acres of wheat, and has lost about one pint of grain from each sheaf from this cause

Cattle and Mules Dying —A peculiar disease, either epidemic or occasioned by poison, has appeared among the teams and pack trains on the road to Boise, and is committing sad havoc. In many cases persons have lost nearly all their animals, and are left almost destitute of means to get their freight into Boise The road is lined with dead animals, presenting a sight equal to that witnessed on the emigrant road from Snake river to the Cascades in 1852 Oxen die suddenly without any apparent sickness, and in some instances fall dead on the road With horses and mules, the first appearance of the disease is swelling of the chest and neck, which continues to increase until the animals apparently choke to death Various causes are assigned for it, some alleging that it is occasioned by the extreme warm weather and alkali dust, others claim that it is poison from eating wild parsnip, which abounds on the low lands of the road, and still others assert that it is an epidemic, similar to that which prevailed in the States a few years ago The majority, however, assign the first named cause, which is most likely the true one

Mr Charles Russell, who came in this week, informs us that he lost fifty out of one hundred and five oxen, while making the trip to and from Boise Mr. Hart lost three out of six mules, Mr Hoon lost two, and many others have met with similar losses —Wash Statesman.

Sad Casualty.—The community were thrown into a state of excitement on Sunday last by the announcement that Mr James Cochran, an old and esteemed citizen, living six miles south of Albany, had committed suicide. The facts in the case so far as we have been able to learn them, are as follows Mr Cochran has been laboring under a depression of spirits for some time past, and during the latter part of last week the symptoms became such as to alarm his family, and on Sunday some of the neighbors were called in as it was thought their assistance might be needed The family and friends went to dinner on Sunday, leaving Mr Cochran lying on a bed in an adjoining room, but shortly heard him get up, pass out of the bed room and enter another one In a moment afterwards they heard the report of a pistol, and rushing to the room, found him lying on the floor, having shot himself in the head From the left hand having been badly burned with powder, it is thought he held the muzzle of the pistol to his head with the left while he pulled the trigger with his right hand He died in about one hour and a half after the sad occurrence Mr Cochran was aged about forty years, was, pecuniarily, in good circumstances, and leaves a wife and an interesting family of children to mourn his untimely end —Democrat

The Only Thing he Regrets —Dr Henry says the only thing he regrets about the Republican defeat at the late election, is, that he told his friends at Washington when he went thither to effect a division of the Territory, that if they would give him the boundaries he asked for he would guarantee that the seat in Congress to be filled from Washington would be occupied by a Republican —Washington Statesman.

Almost a Fire.—Last evening about four o'clock, an alarm of fire was created on Front street, caused by a quantity of linen having caught fire in a bedroom at Mr. Fisher's confectionery store. It appears that Mr. Fisher's little son was playing with some matches in the back room, and that he accidentally set fire to the clothing. The alarm was promptly given, and the engines hurried to the spot; but fortunately their services were not needed, as the fire had been extinguished before their arrival. One of the firemen, however, finding there was no fire to subdue, determined to extinguish something, and forthwith commenced playing the stream upon a couple of astonished citizens who were viewing the proceedings from an adjoining balcony. This determined action effectually routed the spectators aforesaid; and the victorious adjunct of the fire brigade, satisfied that he had zealously performed his duty, thereupon gracefully retired.

Arrived.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt arrived from the Cascades last evening, with upwards of $15,000 in gold dust for Wells, Fargo & Co., besides a considerable quantity in the hands of passengers.

Fine Plums.—Mr. S. Heidelberger, fruit dealer, 81 Front street, yesterday showed us a number of remarkably fine plums, which were as palatable as they were large. Mr. H. has a large quantity of fine fruit constantly on hand.

Changeful.—The weather yesterday was exceedingly variable—the morning being dull and cold, and evening clear and warm. The thermometer at 10 o'clock stood at 54°, and at 4 o'clock it indicated 72° in the shade. A slight difference.

Theatrical.—The touching drama of the "Poor of London" will be reproduced this evening at the Willamette Theater. We can assure our readers that this is the most effective play that has been produced in this city by the present company. The drama itself is one of the greatest of the present age, and is a faithful and life-like picture of the miseries and privations of the poor of all great cities; and every character of this living drama is represented with a naturalness and excellence seldom seen upon the boards of a provincial theater. We must congratulate Manager Waldron and the company generally upon the great success that attended their first representation of the "Poor of London;" and cordially hope that their efforts this evening will be rewarded as they deserve—by a crowded house.

Harvest.—Albany Democrat says that in all parts of Linn county the farmers are in the midst of the harvest. The late warm weather has ripened grain so suddenly that much will be lost from shattering in cutting and binding. One farmer has completed harvesting about one hundred acres of wheat, and has lost about one pint of grain from each sheaf from this cause.

Cattle and Mules Dying.—A peculiar disease, either epidemic or occasioned by poison, has appeared among the teams and pack trains on the road to Boise, and is committing sad havoc. In many cases persons have lost nearly all their animals, and are left almost destitute of means to get their freight into Boise. The road is lined with dead animals, presenting a sight equal to that witnessed on the emigrant road from Snake river to the Cascades in 1852. Oxen die suddenly without any apparent sickness, and in some instances fall dead on the road. With horses and mules, the first appearance of the disease is swelling of the chest and neck, which continues to increase until the animals apparently choke to death. Various causes are assigned for it; some alleging that it is occasioned by the extreme warm weather and alkali dust, others claim that it is poison from eating wild parsnip, which abounds on the low lands on the road, and still others assert that it is an epidemic, similar to that which prevailed in the States a few years ago. The majority, however, assign the first named cause, which is most likely the true one.

Mr. Charles Russell, who came in this week, informs us that he lost fifty out of one hundred and five oxen, while making the trip to and from Boise. Mr. Hurt lost three out of six mules; Mr. Houn lost two, and many others have met with similar losses.—Wash. Statesman.

Sad Casualty.—The community were thrown into a state of excitement on Sunday last by the announcement that Mr. James Cochran, an old and esteemed citizen, living six miles south of Albany, had committed suicide. The facts in the case so far as we have been able to learn them, are as follows: Mr Cochran has been laboring under a depression of spirits for some time past, and during the latter part of last week the symptoms became such as to alarm his family, and on Sunday some of the neighbors were called in, as it was thought their assistance might be needed. The family and friends went to dinner on Sunday, leaving Mr. Cochran lying on a bed in an adjoining room, but shortly heard him get up, pass out of the bed-room and enter another one. In a moment afterwards they heard the report of a pistol, and rushing to the room, found him lying on the floor, having shot himself in the head. From the left hand having been badly burned with with powder, it is thought he held the muzzle of the pistol to his head with the left, while he pulled the trigger with his right hand. He died in about one hour and a half after the sad occurrence. Mr. Cochran was aged about forty years; was, pecuniarily, in good circumstances, and leaves a wife and an interesting family of children to mourn his untimely end.—Democrat.

The only thing he Regrets.—Dr. Henry says the only thing he regrets about the Republican defeat at the late election, is, that he told his friends at Washington, when he went thither to effect a division of the Territory, that if they would give him the boundaries he asked for, he would guarantee that the seat in Congress to be filled from Washington would be occupied by a Republican.—Washington Statesman.

DR. D. JAYNES'

EXPECTORANT

AND SANATIVE PILLS

HAVE BEEN BEFORE THE PUBLIC SO LONG, and found such general favor in every region of country where they have been sold, that there is no place on the civilized globe into which they have not been sold, that it would seem an idle effort ... to direct attention to their ... through the medium of the press. Yet it is due to suffering humanity, and especially to that numerous class who, in the ... climate of the Pacific Coast, suffer from including and ending in CONSUMPTION, many of whom may not have used this remedy, that they should be allowed to read of some of the cases where its influence has been useful in removing complaints from which they are suffering. The EXPECTORANT

Operates immediately upon the Disease,

SURELY AND SPEEDILY ERADICATING IT,

while the SANATIVE PILLS, by preserving regularity in the Bowels, and giving a healthy tone to the other internal organs, aid and assist the perfect operation of the former.

Attention is asked to the following Certificates, selected at random from the mass in the possession of the proprietors:

Upper Uwchland, Chester Co. Pa, Sept 16, 1858.

Dr D. Jayne—Having been afflicted with ASTHMA and BRONCHITIS, and having the advice of some of the most eminent physicians, whose skillful treatment of my case did not prove to be of any avail, I obtained no relief for my suffering until I commenced the use of your EXPECTORANT. After taking it for about three months I was entirely cured.

NATHAN PENNYPACKER.

Astoria, Long Island Jan 15 1860.

E. W. Tinelli, Esq. New York—Sir: As you well know I had been afflicted with BRONCHITIS, accompanied with the most painful tightness of the chest and great difficulty in breathing for nearly two months, and I had almost lost all confidence in the power of medical science, when at your friendly suggestion I began the well known (but not enough known) "EXPECTORANT" of Dr. Jayne, of Philadelphia. Three or four days after having commenced to take it, my cough had nearly subsided, the expectoration was easy, and the breathing quite free.

I am now quite another man, and my general health has never been better.

I remain, my dear Tinelli, with esteem your servant and friend,

J. B. MONTE.

Winfield, Tuscarawas Co. O., May 31, 1860.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: One bottle of your Expectorant cured my daughter of the LUNG FEVER, after having been beyond the hopes of recovery. During the attack she had a number of convulsions. She is now perfectly well.

J. H. COFFMAN.

Burlington, Bradford Co. Pa. July 23, 1863.

Dr. D. Jayne—Dear Sir: My son was for ... and a half years afflicted with a disease resembling CONSUMPTION. For two years he was not able to labor. He was finally induced to try your EXPECTORANT and PILLS, and after taking 10 bottles and some PILLS, was completely cured, and is now able to labor every day.

JOHN HENRY.

We would add to the above that we sold to Mr Henry the medicine for his son, and know that the statement is true.

DR. BAKER'S

PAIN PANACEA.

Is composed entirely of healing gums, and vegetable oils and herbs. It is perfectly safe for the most delicate to use. I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases: If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully returned by the agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have pain in the stomach or bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Pain Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally morning and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dyspepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose of Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat, apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, and gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day

If you have the Diarrhoea, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a dose of Pain Panacea and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling, bathe the parts freely and you will soon relieve pain, and the swelling will be reduced.

If you have a severe toothache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton and bathe the gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly.

If you have a pain in the Breast Side, Back or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a caked breast, apply the Panacea as hot as it can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

A Lady's Age.

If you don't wish to raise a storm,
That all the powers of tongue can wage,
Whose fury time can scarce abate,
Don't ask a single lady's age.

'Tis said that woman cannot keep
A secret locked within her breast;
Just 'happen to' end ask her age,
And on that point you'll be at rest.

She thinks you have no right to know,
As long as she is fresh and fair;
And that 'tis impudent to ask,
Or for a moment seem to care.

Then do not ask a lady's age;
She'll think you're positively green;
If you don't know that single ones
Can never get beyond eighteen!

John Clarke and his Fortune.

(Concluded.)

For once, John Clarke stopped the gossip's mouth. He held his head up manfully—worked steadily at his trade, and every step he took secured a sure advance and an upward one.

Baby was just six months old when the railway company paid into John Clarke's hand a very handsome sum for the privilege of cutting a railway through his little field.

'A handsome baby, a beautiful and industrious wife, and a good round sum from the railway company,' thought John, with an honest exultation; 'well, this is indeed living.'

'John,' said his wife, rising from her work, 'look there!'

He did, and saw the old one-horse chaise dragged by a stalwart laborer.

'Master says as how the old barn is going to be pulled down, so he sent the shay,' said the laborer.

'Thank him for nothing,' said John, bitterly; but a single glance at his wife removed the evil spirit, and a better one smiled out of his eyes.

'John, you can spare a little money to have the old chaise done up, can't you? You ought to, according to your uncle's will,' said Jenny.

'The old trash!' muttered John.

'But you could at least sell it for what the repairs would cost,' said Jenny, in her winning way.

'Yes, I suppose I could do that,' said John, mollified.

'Then I'd have it done,' said Jenny; 'and bless me, I'd keep it, too. You've got a very good horse, and can easily have the old chaise made quite stylish for baby and me to ride in.'

'Well, well—I'll send it over to Hosmer's to-morrow, and see what he'll do for it,' said John.

'Look here! Mr. Hosmer wants you to come over to his shop!' shouted the wheelwright's apprentice on the following day, at the top of his stout lungs. 'Old Joe Hemp is there, and he says as how he's right down glad. It's hundreds and hundreds, and hun—'

'Stop, boy! What does he mean, Jenny?' cried John, putting the baby in the cradle, face downwards.

'My patience, John! just look at that child—the precious little darling! I'm sure I don't know, John. I'd go over and see,' said Jenny.

'Taint any fun, I tell you,' said the boy, while John hurried on his coat and hat; 'my gracious!—guess you'll say it ain't fun when you come to see all them gold things, and the papers.'

This added wings to John's feet, and in a moment he stood breathless in the wheelwright's shop.

'Wish you joy, my fine feller!' cried Joe Hemp.

'Look here! what will you take for that old chaise? I'll give you four hundred,' cried the wheelwright, in great glee.

'Four hundred!' repeated John Clarke, aghast.

'Yes—just look at it! You're a rich man, sir, and I'm real glad of it. You deserve to be,' said the wheelwright, shaking John's hand heartily.

What do you suppose was the consternation, delight, gratitude—the wild, wild joy that filled the heart of Clarke when he found the old chaise lined with gold and bank notes? I mean the cushions, the linings, and every place where they could be put without danger or injury.

Poor John, or rather rich John, his head was nearly turned. It required all the balance of Jenny's nice equipoise of character to keep his ecstatic brain from spinning like a humming top.

Now he bequeathed to his red-headed cousin, who had wished him joy when the will was read—the dear old uncle! What a genuine sorrow he felt as he thought of the many times he had heaped reproaches upon his memory!

Imagine, if you can, dear reader, the peculiar feelings of these kind friends who had prophesied that John Clarke would come to grief. At first, old Joe Hemp proposed to take the old chaise just as it was, linings stripped, bits of cloth hanging, and proclaim with a trumpet the glad tidings to the whole village, taking especial care to stop before the house of the spiteful Mr. Spriggs, and blowing loud enough to drown all the forty pianos in the universe; but was voted down by John's kind little wife.

'La! they'll all know of it soon enough?' she said, kissing the baby; 'I wouldn't hurt their feelings.'

They will know of it; and a few years afterward they all agreed that John Clarke had really turned out a good man.

So much for the one-horse chaise.

CALIFORNIA AND OREGON RAILROAD.—The Shasta Courier of the 18th July, notices the arrival at that town of S. G. Elliott and the rest of the Oregon Railroad expedition. No difficulty was found in making the allignment to Shasta. The citizens were subscribing their quota towards the expenses of the survey. The Courier says:

The cost of the road from Marysville to the crossing of Sacramento river, above Red Bluff, will be of the lightest order, Butte Creek, Chico Creek, Deer Creek, Mill Creek, and Antelope Creek being the only ones requiring anything of a bridge, and those probably not over 60 feet span each, the remaining creeks and gullies requiring nothing more than ordinary culverts. The crossing of the Sacramento river can be effected at several points, some of the most favorable of which are from one to four miles above Red Bluff. The length of the bridge will be about 600 feet, laid upon piers whose foundations will be the solid bed-rock, as the water is very shallow at these points, and the bed of the river being bare rock.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's [illegible] whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters:"

PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 18[illegible]

Messrs. Jones & Evans.—Well, [illegible] your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my [illegible] There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by [illegible] of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who are fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was seventy two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer State of Maine, from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and accordingly, the physicians who had been working [illegible] though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbron, of Sixth below Arch Street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months: for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours, ISAAC MALON[illegible]

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
